Professor Emeritus of Music at Michigan State University
President of the Gordon Institute for Music Learning

Cynthia Crump Taggart is Professor Emeritus of Music at Michigan State University and President of the Gordon Institute for Music Learning. She specializes in early childhood and elementary general music education, measurement, and psychology of music. She is a co-author of Music Play, Music Play II, and Jump Right In, and has published numerous book chapters and journal articles. She is co-editor of Readings in Music Learning Theory and Development and Practical Application of Music Learning Theory. In 2015, she received the Music Teacher of the Year award from Michigan Music Educators Association. She also has received the Teacher-Scholar Award, the Withrow Award for Excellence in Teaching, and Beal Outstanding Faculty Award from Michigan State University. In 2021, she will be inducted into the Hall of Honor by the Early Childhood Music and Movement Association.

Engaging Young Children in Musical Thinking

This workshop will explore how to encourage young children to audiate or engage in musical thinking. First children listen, then they respond, imitate, and eventually become assimilated into their musical cultures and learn to "think in music." This process of musical development is described by Edwin E. Gordon in his theory of Preparatory Audiation. Participants in this workshop will learn more about Gordon's theory of Preparatory Audiation and will explore and engage in practical ideas for guiding and facilitating the development of musical thinking in all children.

Nota: O evento é gratuito mas as inscrições são limitadas. Poderão participar investigadores, alumni e estudantes de todos os ciclos da FCSH, bem como participantes externos mediante inscrição através do formulário <https://forms.gle/aPPTVoVXatUqTVqBA>
